

Kosher Fish

In this week's Torah portion, Parshat Shmini, we learn about which animals, fish and birds are considered kosher. For a fish to be kosher, it requires fins and scales. This adorable craft brings a kosher fish to your Shabbat table.

Materials:

- 1 paper plate
- Blue paint
- Paint brush
- Colorful tissue paper
- Light blue construction paper
- Aluminum foil
- Scissors
- Crayons
- Glue
- 1 googly eye

Directions:

1. Cut out a small triangle from the plate for a mouth. Use the triangle as the fish's tail fin.
2. Paint your plate blue.
3. While the paint is still wet, glue some cut tissue paper scales to the body of the fish. Make sure to brush glue on top of the tissue paper as well.
4. Cut your aluminum foil into scale shapes and glue on to the fish.
5. Add an eye.
6. Glue on construction paper fins to the top and bottom of the fish. Glue on the tail fin.
